Communication and Sport: Surveying the Field, 2d edition (London: Sage, 2014).

IV. What you may want (recommended, not required)

- A subscription to Sports Illustrated
- Daily access to ESPN's SportsCenter
- A subscription to Sports Business Daily (sportsbusinessdaily.com/Daily.aspx)
- Roger Caillois, Man, Play, Games
- Eduardo Galeano, Soccer in Sun and Shadow
- Allen Guttman, From Ritual to Record: The Nature of Modern Sports
- Gustave LeBon, The Crowd
- Orin Starn, The Passion of Tiger Woods

V. Class format: The professor has planned a combination of dynamic out-of-class activities, a range of media to examine in the classroom, and a bounty of discussion themes and lines of inquiry. Because this is a survey course, class time will typically blend presentation and discussion. Come to class with an attitude, mindset and disposition to discuss, even debate, participate and interact. Do NOT come to class in passive mode. Education isn't something that happens to you; it's something you (should) own. Get into the driver's seat. Let's go!!

VI. Policies

- Attendance: Be here every day on time, just as you would for a job, surgery or even a haircut. Everyone gets one unexcused absence or late arrival, maybe two, with no questions asked. Stuff happens. After that, unexcused and/or unexplained absences (and/or lateness) will result in point deductions from the "professionalism and participation" portion of your grade. What is excused is at the instructor's discretion, so you are best served by discussing situations and extraordinary circumstances prior to class whenever possible. Chronic tardiness and/or absenteeism will result in whole letter grade deductions for the course, with "chronic" defined as five or more (latenesses and/or absences). If a student misses six or more class and/or lab sessions, that student might be administratively dropped from the course. An absence for medical reasons with documentation does not count toward this threshold.
- Professionalism in the classroom: The instructor needs your attention and your respect, as do your peers. And this instructor is easily distracted. So, no unauthorized device use, therefore, including Apple watches for texts. Put your phones away, and make sure they are silent. Do homework for other classes somewhere else. If your phone goes off on class, or if you are seen texting or reading texts, etc., you will be treated as absent. It's a respect thing.
- Academic integrity: Because academic integrity is the foundation of college life at Berry, academic dishonesty will result in automatic failure on the assignment in question. Academic dishonesty includes, but is not limited to, the following: cheating, unauthorized collaboration, plagiarism, fabrication, submitting the same work in multiple courses, and aiding and abetting. Students who are sanctioned for violating the academic integrity policy forfeit the right to withdraw from the class with a grade of "W."

VII. How your course grade will be computed

Dailies (writing responses, takeaways/residuals)	80%
Quizzes, in-class activities	10%
Professionalism, participation, attendance _____	10%
	100%

For dailies, grades of check plus, check, check minus, and zero will be awarded. Roughly translated, check plusses = As; checks = Bs; and check minuses = Cs. To compute your final grade, add up your point totals, apply the appropriate percentages, then refer to the Berry College Communication Department suggested grading system, summarized here:

A = 93-100	A-= 90-92	B+=88-89	B=83-87
B- = 80-82	C+= 78-79	C=73-77	C-=70-72
D= 60-69	F=59 and below

Definitions of the grades can be found in the Berry College Catalog. “A” students will demonstrate an outstanding mastery of course material and will perform far above that required for credit in the course and far above that usually seen in the course. The “A” grade should be awarded sparingly and should identify student performance that is relatively unusual in the course and that demonstrates mastery.

VIII. Viking Honor Code

It is not just policy. It is foundational to the academic environment we enjoy and in which scholarship thrives. It is in force in this classroom and during all lab sessions. For the complete Viking Code, please consult the student handbook. In short, each student is “expected to recognize constituted authority, to abide by the ordinary rules of good conduct, to be truthful, to respect the rights of others.” The College’s mission, in part, commits to a community of integrity and justice. During an era when ethics are sometimes suspect, there seems no higher goal toward which students ought to strive than that of personal honor.

IX. Assignments

- A. Dailies: There will be variety in these assignments, from analyzing sports coverage to posting a comment to a blog post to role-playing, but the vast majority of these will be writing responses. To extend and expand our discussions, the professor will occasionally write to Wandering Rocks (wanderingrocks.wordpress.com) and invite students to comment on the post. Evaluated here are a student’s creativity, thoughtfulness and questions. This is a Communication course; writing counts on each and every assignment. Spend time crafting your submissions, revising, taking them to the Writing Center, refining your work. First drafts do not fare well.
- B. Quizzes: To test your recall of history, key terms and concepts, and to make sure you’re doing the reading.
- C. Note that professionalism is a significant portion of your grade. Attendance, participation, preparation and overall professionalism are aspects of this 10%. Please see the policies section for details on how points are won and lost.

Late submissions: Because the due dates are known well in advance, there is no reason why they cannot be completed on time. No assignments will be accepted more than two class sessions late unless arranged prior to due date. All late work is penalized, except in cases of legitimate excuse. The instructor defines what constitutes “legitimate.” Quizzes cannot be made up, but with a legitimate, documented reason for absence, missing one will not necessarily count against you.

X. Students with special needs

If you have special needs of any kind, including learning disabilities and/or medications, please let me know. Let us discuss it and work together to overcome. In addition, “students with disabilities who believe that they may need accommodation in this course are encouraged to contact the Academic Support Center in Memorial Library as soon as possible to ensure that such accommodations are implemented in a timely fashion.” – Academic Support Center.
